TEUTONIC ALLIANCE FALLING TO PIECES

BULGARIA AND TURKEY ALREADY OUT AND AUSTRIA BEGGING FOR PEACE LEAVES GERMANY TO FACE FOE ALONE

(Associated Press War Summary)

News of the breaking up of enemy nations looms more important today than even reports of the tremendous events in actual battle theatres. The great Teutonic alliance, which for four years has carried on the greatest war in history, and often seemed to have succeeded, is tumbling to pieces. Bulgaria and Turkey have already surrendered; Austria with anarchy reigning throughout the empire, is begging for peace, and Germany anxiously awaits the allied armistice terms.

Turkey apparently has given up everything, agreeing to the opening of the Dardanelles and Bosphorus and has thrown herself on the mercy of the powers arrayed against her. In this phase of the war the United States is not an active participant, never having declared war upon Turkey.

Austrian armies fighting on Italian soil face a great military disaster, for the rush of troops commanded by General Diaz has not halted because of Austrian peace appeals. Fifteen Austrian divisions face annihilation in the mountains between the Brenta and Piave rivers. Over 50,000 prisoners have been taken to date. East of Courtrai, in Flanders, British and French forces have torn asunder the Germans holding the canal from Eecloo to Zeebrugge.

From the American front this morning comes reports of heavily increased American artillery fire by both light and heavy batteries.

Austrian Front Collapse.

Rome, Nov. 1.—In the offensive against the Austrians on Monte Grappa front in Northern Italy, the Italians have pressed the enemy so strongly that his front has collapsed, the war office announces today.

British Advance on Italian Front.

London, Nov. 1.—British troops on the Italian front have occupied Seile on the Livenza river, fifteen miles east of the Piave, the war office announces. The enemy is falling back in the Monte Grappa sector.

London, Nov. 1.—British today have resumed the offensive south of Valenciennes. Field Marshal Haig in his official report says good progress is being made.

Terms to be Submitted to Germany.

Paris, Nov. 1.—The armistice terms, to be submitted to Germany, will be confined strictly to military requirements, except that it will be brought out clearly that they are conditioned, generally, upon President Wilson's fourteen principles.

Hungarian Revolution Successful.

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—A successful revolution has taken place in Budapest and the Hungarian National Council has taken over the government, according to a message sent by Count Michael Karolyi to the Berlin Tageblatt. Karolyi's message asserts that the military and police authorities have acknowledged the National Council completely.

HUGHES' FINDINGS IN AIRPLANE INVESTIGATIONS

Recommendations for the trial by court-martial of Col. E. A. Deeds, and criminal prosecution of three other army officers interested in the airplane production program are made in the report of the aircraft probe of Charles E. Hughes, transmitted to President Wilson yesterday.

Mr. Hughes finds no evidence of "graft" in the airplane work, but cites Colonel Deeds for alleged indiscretions in connection with giving out confidential information, and the other officers for dealing with corporations in which they were interested.

Principal waste of airplane money, the report says, arose from abandonment of two types of airplane and a failure to salvage involving loss of $24,000,000.

John D. Ryan and the civilians working on aircraft production are exonerated from blame for delays, but army signal corps officers are censured for carelessness in organization.

SUGAR ALLOWANCE IS RAISED TO 3 POUNDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The sugar allowance of two pounds monthly for a person for household use was increased to three pounds monthly today by Food Administrator Hoover, effective today. The sugar regulations also are revised to permit the purchase of the entire monthly supply for a family at one time.

This relaxation of the restrictions placed on the use of sugar four months ago was made possible, Mr. Hoover's statement said, through the rapid manufacture of beet sugar crop in the west, the new cane crop in the south, reductions of consumption in manufacturing, freer transportation conditions and patriotic conservation by the public.

HAS A BIG JOB

G. S. Bilheimer.

G. S. Bilheimer of Denver, Colo., has been appointed Southern department campaign director for the next big drive for funds to continue the war work being done by the Red Triangle forces in the army camps of the United States and overseas, army Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the War Camp Community Service, the Salvation Army, the National Catholic War council, the American Library association and the Jewish Welfare board.

Mr. Bilheimer is one of the foremost men in the Y. M. C. A. movement. He is a member of the international committee of the organization, a member of the National War Work council, and a master organizer and executive. He successfully directed the last army Y. M. C. A. drive for the Southern department, comprised of Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arizona and New Mexico, and was unanimously chosen for the larger responsibility of the approaching campaign, during which the country will be called upon to support the Y. M. C. A. and other important war work agencies.

Mr. Bilheimer will be located at Dallas during the campaign period. He will have an able corps of assistants and specialists on his staff to carry out the various activities connected with a campaign of the magnitude of the forthcoming financial drive.

Mr. Bilheimer was chosen to direct the entire United War Work campaign for funds to finance the work of the seven war work agencies because of his successful experience and his unusual ability. His selection came direct from the New York headquarters of the consolidated campaign, with the solid approval of the people of the six Southwestern states, who are under his leadership, to furnish their part of the $170,500,000 which the nation will be called on to contribute between November 11 and 18.

SOLDIER TEAMS PLAY SATURDAY

The S. A. T. C. football team of East Central Normal will go to Tulsa on the early train tomorrow where they will play a game with the S. A. T. C. of Henry Kendall in the afternoon. The team will be accompanied by Coach R. S. Newcomb, Lieut. R. D. Teichman and probably by Lieutenant Ray Gardner. Many ardent rooters will also go.

The S. A. T. C. of Ada has been practicing hard this week and an interesting and hard fought game is looked for. About 25 men have been in training and nothing will be left undone to make the same record for Ada this year that she had last.

HUGHES REPORT TELLS OF AIRPLANE DELAYS

(By the Associated Press)

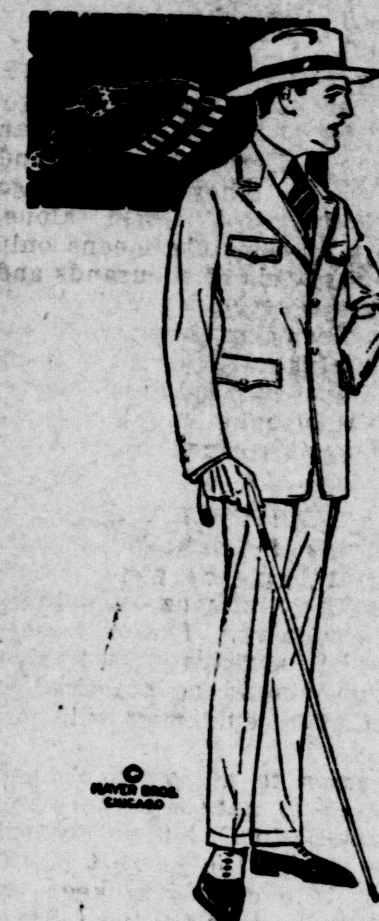

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Mistakes, delays and failures of the airplane production program under the administration of old aircraft board before its reorganization last May were detailed at length in the investigation report of Charles E. Hughes, published today. Defective organization in the army signal corps and lack of competent direction are cited as the chief causes of delay. The report finds that some manufacturers well qualified for airplane production could not get orders while others less qualified received orders, confusion and waste in these plants resulting. Profits in many instances were enormous.

The Dayton-Wright corporation with $1,000,000 capital and over $1,000,000 government finance expected to make profits of over $6,000,000. The Packard Motor Co., was estimated to make $6,000,000 profits on seventeen months work on liberty motors.

J. C. Emery was in the city today from the Ranger, Tex., oil field. He predicts that it will develop into one of the best fields in Texas.

CONSTIPATION

And Sour Stomach Caused This Lady Much Suffering. Black-Draught Relieved.

Meadorsville, Ky.—Mrs. Pearl Patrick, of this place, writes: "I was very constipated. I had sour stomach and was so uncomfortable. I went to the doctor. He gave me some pills. They weakened me and seemed to tear up my digestion. They would gripe me and afterwards it seemed I was more constipated than before."

I heard of Black-Draught and decided to try it. I found it just what I needed. It was an easy laxative, and not bad to swallow. My digestion soon improved. I got well of the sour stomach, my bowels soon seemed normal, no more griping, and I would take a dose now and then, and was in good shape.

I cannot say too much for Black-Draught for it is the finest laxative one can use."

Thedford's Black-Draught has for many years been found of great value in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Easy to take, gentle and reliable in its action, leaving no bad after-effects, it has won the praise of thousands of people who have used it.

The Allied nations ought not to be short of Turkey on Thanksgiving.

Europe is going through a terrible stew now, but you know it takes stewing to make some things digestible.

Who started politics a-boiling? It is hard to convince us that some of our ex-presidents have not been meddling just a wee bit.

The demand of the traitors in Petrograd that Americans evacuate Russian territory reminds us of a mad dog barking at the moon, or some other inconceivable and unreachable object.

What has become of Lenin and Trotsky? Have they been the victims of their own machinations? If they have not gone yet, they will go soon. These archfiends have lived long enough.

While we want to see Germany humiliated, we do not want to see Bolshevism running rampant. Germany must pay for her crimes, and a stable government is needed to produce the coin.

GERMANY NEXT.
Austria-Hungary is begging for peace, and it is only a matter of a few hours until her armies in Italy will surrender to General Diaz. It is hardly likely that the Allied leaders will accept anything less than unconditional surrender from the Austrians inasmuch as the latter are so badly beaten any other action is unnecessary. Turkey is already out, the armistice having gone into effect Thursday. There is just one power left, Germany.

How long can Germany hold out? Not long. Perhaps the army can be kept together this winter, but this is very uncertain. The Allies will demand the use of Austrian territory and Austrian railroads to transport troops to the back door of Germany. There is an army of considerably more than a million troops in Italy which will be released for duty on the southern border of the Fatherland. Winter will not keep the transportation of troops from going on. The end of the four months of November, December, January and February would see a wall about the German empire that would throw every man, woman and child in that miserable land into a paroxysm of fear, and the greatest revolution ever recorded in the world's history would result.

But will it go that long? No. With all her allies gone, Germany will not fight alone. The German people have suffered for four and one-half years. They will not go against the combined world alone, when going so certainly means only death for hundreds of thousands and only a harder peace when it is all over. Germany's army at home is just as surely giving away as is the army on the French and Belgium border, and the catastrophe can hardly be postponed until spring.

KEEP IT UP.

The citizens of Ada have learned a lesson about hygiene and sanitation since the influenza epidemic struck the country. These lessons should not be forgotten or laid aside. Instead they should be practiced in order that other epidemics will pass us by.

It is human to neglect one's person, trusting to nature to keep one well. Nature is kind, but nature will not make up for the neglect of the individual. If one fails to keep the mouth clean and lets germs breed there, he cannot expect to escape the consequences. If one shuts himself in the house and does not breathe God's free air as nature tells us to do, he cannot expect to escape the consequences.

Of course, this does not mean it is possible to keep free from all diseases. Every one is exposed to the unsanitary conditions of the community in which he lives, if such unsanitary conditions exist. The individual may take all precautions possible, but if the community as a whole is negligent, the individual is not safe. We must remember that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, both as individuals and as a community.

After 500 years of misrule the unspeakable Turk is at last packing his rags to get out of Europe for good and all. Not only that but very little will be left to him of his empire in Asia and the fangs of the tiger that devoured the helpless have been drawn. It is a glorious day, not only for the millions of oppressed whose misfortune it has been to live under the sway of the sultan, but for the cause of human freedom in general. That the Turkish empire has existed to this hour is due to the jealousies that have hitherto kept the Christian nations apart. Long ago the cross would have supplanted the crescent on the minarets of St. Sophia but for the fear each nation had that another would get the benefit of the Turks' estate. It is the irony of fate that England, who for a century protected the Turk and prevented Russia from ending his rule at last had to be the instrument of retribution, but after all it is better for the flags of the allies to wave above Constantinople than that of Russia.

Prince Max warned the allies not to be too severe in the terms they laid down for the armistice and peace lest the German people rise in their wrath and kick the stuffing out of their enemies. With all of Germany's allies out of the war and the possibility of the armies in Macedonia and Italy coming in from the south, the Huns will have plenty to do if they decide to keep up the scrap. They have not been able to check Foch's forces on the west front and should an invading army move in from the south the Kaiser will verily find himself between the devil and deep blue sea. The day of the pan-German and military parties has waned and the scepter of the Hohenzollern dynasty has lost its potency.

There can be no doubt about Austria wanting out of the war and willing to pay any price to get out. The wholesale destruction that is befalling the armies in Italy is an argument for peace that Austria can thoroughly understand. Not only that but the Serbian army, coming up from the south, is panting for revenge and once across the Danube would give the Austrians that would not be forgotten. In addition to these Czech-Slovaks are asserting themselves within the borders of the empire and the throne of the Hapsburgs is tottering most perilously. However, unconditional surrender will be the reply of the allies and that is all Austria has in store.

Some lady in the far north has spent some little pocket change circulating a pamphlet protesting against the Star Spangled banner. There are several things she does not like about it, the wording and spirit it breathes not meeting approval. However, she does not try to improve it and the chances are that it will be sung many centuries after the world has forgotten her criticism.

There is one thing certain, the American people know more of the geography and history of Europe than they did two years ago. Even the school children now talk interestingly about the various cities in France, Belgium, Italy and discuss the relations of the various nationalities.

Deserted by his three allies the Kaiser now has some conception of the feeling of the boy who stood on the burning deck, only he got out that deck of his own accord.

the above to be based on Chicago. We agree that a committee shall be appointed by the food administration to check the daily operations in the various markets with a view to supervision and administration of the carrying out of the above. The ability of the packers to carry out this arrangement will depend on there being a normal marketing of hogs based on the proportionate increase over the receipts of the year. The increase in production appears to be a maximum of about fifteen percent and we can handle such an increase. If the producers of hogs should as they have in the past few weeks, prematurely market hogs at such increasing numbers over the above it is entirely beyond the ability of the packers to maintain these minimums and therefore we must have the co-operation of the producer himself to maintain these results. It is a physical impossibility for the capacity of the packing houses to handle a similar overflow of hogs and to find a market for the output. The packers are anxious to co-operate with the producers in maintaining a stabilization of price and to see that producers receive a fair price for their products." (Signed)

"THOS. E. WILSON, 'Chairman Packers Committee.' The plan embodied above was adopted by the conference.

The food administration has appointed a committee comprising Mr. Thos. E. Wilson, chairman of the packers committee, Mr. Everett Brown, president of the Chicago livestock exchange, Major Roy of the food administration, Mr. Louis D. Hall of the Bureau of Markets to undertake the supervision of the execution of the plan in the various markets. Commission men are asked to co-operate in carrying out the plan embodied in the packers agreement by commission men to sell hogs below the minimum established above is not fair either to the producer or the participating packers. Mr. Brown has undertaken on behalf of the commission men in the United States that they will loyally support the plan. It is believed by the conference that this new plan based as it is upon a positive minimum basis will bring better results to the producer than average prices for the month. It does not limit top prices and should narrow the margins necessary to country buyers in a more variable market. Swine producers of the country will contribute to their own interest by not flooding the market for it must be evident that if an excessive overproduction of hogs is marketed in any one month, price stabilization and control cannot succeed and it is certain that producers themselves can contribute materially to the efforts of the conference, if they will do their marketing in as normal a way as possible. The whole situation as existing at present demands a frank and explicit assurance from the conference represented, namely, that every possible effort will be made to maintain a live hog price commensurate with swine production costs and reasonable selling values in execution of the declared policy of the Food Administration to use every agency in its control to secure justice to the farmer. The stabilization methods adopted for November represent the best efforts of the conference, occurred in by the Food Administration and the livestock subcommittee of the agricultural advisory board together with special swine members and the representatives of the packers to improve the present unsatisfactory situation which has unfortunately resulted because of the injection of uncontrollable factors. We ask the producer to co-operate with us in a most difficult task. The conference concluded by a rising vote of appreciation to Mr. Hoover for the able manner in which the greatest crisis that has confronted swine producers has been handled and to express the belief that the swine producers are and have been given support of inestimable value by the whole food administration.

IOWA POLITICAL CAMPAIGN WARMS

By the Associated Press

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 1.—While recent developments have attracted some attention to the gubernatorial race, principal interest in the coming election in Iowa centers in several congressional contests.

Besides selecting eleven congressmen and a governor, the voters will choose all other state officers, a United States senator, a complete state house of representatives, nearly half the state senators and judges in twenty-one districts.

The Democrats avowedly have concentrated their efforts in the Second, Third, Fourth and Sixth congressional districts, attacking the war legislation records of the four Republican incumbents—Hull, Sweet, Hargis and Ramseyer, respectively—all seeking re-election.

For United States senator, William S. Kenyon of Fort Dodge, Republican incumbent, is opposed by Charles R. Keyes of Des Moines, Democrat. Kenyon's supporters predict his re-election as his record was commended by the democratic state central committee before Keyes' candidacy developed.

Governor William L. Harding, Republican, who is just completing his first term, is opposed by Claude R. Porter, Democrat, of Centerville, recently nominated by President Wilson as an assistant attorney general. The state-wide influenza quarantine it is said, prevented Mr. Porter from making an extensive speaking campaign.

An interesting phase of the gubernatorial contest was the recent defection from Harding's camp of James M. Pierce, publisher of the Iowa Homestead, whose support of the governor in the 1916 campaign was declared to have had a marked influence on the outcome.

Pierce resigned from the state council of national defense some weeks ago, after that body had voted, subject to the governor's approval, to exempt him for publishing certain articles attacking members of the council, and immediately afterward announced his support of Porter's candidacy.

More than 20,000 Iowans now in army and navy camps in the United States will be given an opportunity to vote.

Except for the action on the proposed federal constitutional amendment for national prohibition, there is no clear-cut issue affecting the selection of state representatives and senators, and it is expected party affiliations will govern their election.

In three of the four congressional districts under heaviest fire from the democratic campaign guns, the candidates of that party are army men. These districts are the Second, Third and Sixth. In the last named district, the democratic nominees' names were written on the ballots at the primary as the result of a brief, quiet campaign.

HAPPY AFTER 20 YEARS

"I must write and tell you I am getting along fine. For 20 years, that is over half of my life, I have spent in poor health and suffering from severe gas in stomach and indigestion. May's Wonderful Remedy has entirely restored me. I also know of several others who have taken it for the same trouble and are now well again." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Gwin & Mays Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

ADA SOLDIER WITNESS TO HUN ATROCITIES

I figured it was all a lie about the way the Huns treated the Belgians, but while I was up that way I saw kid after kid with hands off, legs cut off, ears notched and gee, only know some of the most horrible things in the world they did to them right in Northern France and Belgium. A man who could not fight an enemy like that is certainly "poor bou," as the French say.

We have some very rainy weather now, rains most all of the time and is very cool too, but we are better acclimated to this kind of weather than we were last winter and we do not notice it so very much.

I haven't got to send the helmet yet, mother, but will try to go to camp in a few days and mail it.

I must be a pretty good commander, as I haven't seen one of my officers in a month. I have a division of Lt. By. up next to the line with three gangs of eight men each. We have a bit of excitement at times, repairing blowouts and dodging whizzbangs. We are all wise enough to dodge them.

We have a fine hut to live in the side of a canyon with a big spring right underneath it. Sometimes we work thirty or forty hours and then maybe everything will get back to real work again. We only work eight hours and Sunday off under normal conditions. I haven't seen a branch of the service yet I would like to be transferred to, and am proud of the company, regiment and the record we have made over here.

SPANISH INFLUENZA STRIKES SUDDENLY

Pneumonia Often Results—Victims Seized Without Warning, Making Precaution Doubly Necessary.

Much of the difficulty experienced by health authorities in checking the spread of the Spanish influenza lies in the fact that it strikes its victim without warning.

Although State and Federal authorities are taking every possible precaution in their efforts to stop the spread of the epidemic, the disease in many sections of the country has gotten entirely beyond control and is claiming its victims by the thousands.

It is universally agreed by all well informed persons that the surest preventive is to get the system in the best possible physical condition in order to be able to throw off the infection. As has been previously stated it is possible to perfect the powers of resistance of the human system so that it can throw off almost any infection, not excepting Spanish influenza, which is one of the most contagious diseases known.

Medical authorities agree that people who are weak and run-down are the earliest victims of the influenza epidemic. If you find yourself weak or losing flesh, or if you are in a generally run-down condition, you are really in great danger if you should come in contact with the influenza germ.

As a powerful reconstructive tonic and system builder, Tanlac is without equal. This is a statement of facts and is fully supported by recognized authorities. According to all the accepted reference works, including the United States Dispensary, Encyclopedia Britannica and leading text books used in the school of medicine, the principle ingredients of Tanlac possess the most valuable tonic properties known to science. This statement is further proven by the fact that millions of persons who have actually taken Tanlac have testified to its extraordinary merit as a medicine.

Tanlac restores health and strength to the weak and run-down system by enabling every organ of the body to perform its proper function. In nature's own way, it creates healthy appetite for good nourishing food and is an ideal strengthening tonic for persons who are in a run-down condition and who are suffering from the after-effects of influenza, the Grippe or Bronchial troubles.

Tanlac is sold in Ada by Gwin & Mays Drug Co.

SIMMONS URGES SUPPORT OF WAR WORK CAMPAIGN

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 1.—George W. Simmons, manager for the Southwestern Division of the American Red Cross, has called upon all members of the organization to support the seven recreational organizations which will seek funds the week of November 11 to 18. He points out that the work of the organizations is of inestimable importance.

In connection with his statement, he says that the demands being made on the Red Cross are larger than anticipated and that these demands are increasing. He said it was likely that the Red Cross will ask for war funds in the spring. A Red Cross membership campaign will take place in December.

AUSTRALIA LITTLE AFFECTED BY HIGH COST OF LIVING

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 1.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Australia occupies the most favorable position of all lands in the matter of increased cost of living, according to a survey made by the Stockholm Commercial Gazette. The Australian increase was reported as 30 per cent since the beginning of the war. The United States was recorded as in second position with the increase of 60 to 70 per cent.

Holland with an increase of 70 per cent showed the smallest increase among European nations with Denmark next with the increase of about 30 per cent.

Sweden, England, France, Spain and Portugal are grouped with an increase running from 100 to 122 per cent, England and France occupying the most favorable place with increases of about 100 per cent, while Sweden had 182 per cent.

Germany, Belgium, Norway and Hungary had increases from 150 to 200 per cent, while the cost of living in Austria, Finland and Russia had increased more than 200 per cent.

In every case the figures are based on the budget of a normal family with a year's expenditures of 2,000 crowns in 1914.

THE HELPING HAND

By GEORGE ELMER COBB.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

"What does it mean?" breathed Grace Burton, and she stared in a lost, bewildered way at her practical-faced landlady, alone for the first time in her life in the heart of a great city.

"It means, my dear," spoke Mrs. Denham gently, but with a clarity of expression that struck a dread chill to the soul of her auditor, "that you are like many another who has trusted to the lure of ambition and false promises—stranded!"

Hopelessly Grace sat weaving her small white trembling hands in and out, her frightened eyes fixed upon the face of the landlady in pleading hope and despair.

"Tell me your story, dear," insisted the other, but sighed secretly for all this, while pathetic, was dreadfully commonplace in a long experience that had not hardened her heart, although it had brought the settled conviction that the seamy side of life came to all—good, bad, honest or tricky.

A simple story had Grace to tell. She had lived her life in a quiet little Quaker community. It had been blissful enough until her only relative, an aged aunt, had died, leaving her penniless.

There had come along a handsome, flashing young fellow calling himself Brant Durward. He was a musical director, he told Grace. He professed to be interested at once in her welfare. Something in her novel environment, in the rare purity and beauty of her face really struck this natural-born speculator in the field of exploiting dramatic possibilities. He averred that, just as she stepped out of the simple framework of a novel, unique environment and appealed to his sense of the artistic, so he could take her to the city, give her training and make of her a star in the great mimic firmament. He did not make love to her, yet he hinted at success, fame and mutual benefit. He gave her an address, the dramatic boarding house where Grace had been waiting for him vainly for a week with implicit faith in his promises.

And he had not come; her little stock of money was depleted and—disillusionment! She had met an incongruous group of men, girls and women, most of them tawdry, superficial, each and all imbued with rare self-appreciation of their gifts of genius and dreaming of a vast future.

She shrank from them, somehow. When one day she got into the confidence of an unknown like herself, just starting in at the dreary treadmill of study and training, her heart grew sick within her.

"My dear," pronounced the sympathetic landlady, "I am glad of one thing—that you haven't foolishly rested your heart on the love of Brant Durward, who is unworthy of you. He is an enthusiast, and I do not doubt the genuineness of his belief that he could make something of you in a dramatic way, but he is attracted by every new face he sees."

"The fact is, he has been arrested and is in jail for misrepresenting one of his dramatic schemes to an investor and has simply forgotten you."

"But what am I to do?" choked up Grace in direful distress. "Mr. Durward spoke of a half-brother, a Mr. Edgar Braham, who had great influence in helping forward the untried and struggling in the line I hoped to succeed in."

"Give me time to think," murmured Mrs. Denham, deeply interested in this forlorn waif who had drifted so helplessly into her life. Then, after a pause: "Mr. Edgar Braham is, indeed, a power in his line, an advanced one in the moving picture field. But he considers his half-brother a scamp, has backed him at a loss and will have nothing more to do with him. Yes, my dear, it is best that you should go and see Mr. Braham. Tell him your simple story and abide by what he says, for he is a good man. He is a producer of the better type of movie picture specialties with a moral lesson at the end of them, and his sister, Harriet Braham, writes the scenarios. They live an ideal life together."

Never did Grace Burton forget that eventful morning when she was ushered into the presence of Edgar Braham at his office in his mansion home. She had to wait her turn, and after gay, chatting actors and actresses had come and gone, she found herself facing a serious-eyed young man who listened to her story with great earnest attention.

"Sister Harriet," he said, "here is a little stray bird lost in the storm. See what we can do to make her restful and safe, and happy."

What a life opened up to Grace Burton among these simple, noble children of the heart! With what delight and ardor did she co-operate with Harriet Braham in furnishing the coloring for a true, simple, heartsome screen story of the old Quaker community, evolving a drama that appealed later to the souls of thousands!

One day, about six months later, Brant Durward, unkempt, at odds with the world, down and out, entered a theater to view with startled wonder the great new film of the day.

"And Braham has married the pretty little heroine of his star play," Durward overheard some one say, and with bitter disappointment realized what he had—lost? No, for the love of Grace Burton had never been his, and now it was bestowed upon a worthy object.
